

ERISA Summary Plan Description

Introduction

This document presents basic information provided by the plan administrator of your plans concerning the medical, dental, vision, life insurance and accidental death and dismemberment coverage options maintained by USC and any severance benefits payable for layoffs from USC, and your rights as a plan participant, to meet the requirements of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA).

For complete details on specific items such as eligibility, benefit coverage, definitions, loss or reduction of benefits, coordination of benefits, exclusions and limitations, and the like, please refer to the applicable description of benefits, certificate of coverage, subscriber agreement, or evidence of coverage issued to you by USC, an insurance company, or an HMO, or in the case of severance benefits, the Severance Pay Plan document and its Exhibits. Separate summary plan descriptions are available for the retirement plans at www.usc.edu/benefits.

This document, the complete contents of the USC Benefits website (www.usc.edu/benefits), the separate benefit booklets and plan documents together constitute the Summary Plan Description for the medical, dental, vision, health care FSA, life insurance and accidental death and dismemberment coverage options maintained by USC and the severance benefits available from USC, and is intended to comply with the disclosure requirements set forth under ERISA. A complete list of participating employers may be obtained upon written request from the benefits office.

Please read this document carefully. You may wish to print a copy for future reference. You may also obtain a copy at no charge by contacting the HR Service Center at 213-821-8100 or uschr@usc.edu.

The vendors listed above for coverages with self-insured status provide certain administrative services for the self-insured coverages. These vendors provide claims payment and other administrative services under an administrative services contract with the university but they do not assume any financial risk or obligation with respect to claims or benefits under the coverages. The vendors listed above for coverages with a fully-insured status provide benefits under one or more insurance policies or contracts issued to the university. These vendors are solely responsible for financing and providing the benefits under the insurance policies and contracts. The university has no liability for any benefits due, or alleged to be due, under any such insurance policies or contracts.

Plan administration

The administration of the plans shall be under the supervision of the Plan Administrator listed above. To the fullest extent permitted by law, the Plan Administrator shall have the discretion to determine all matters relating to eligibility, coverage and benefits under the plans, and the Plan Administrator shall have the discretion to determine all matters relating to the interpretation and operation of the plans. Any determination by the Plan Administrator shall be final and binding, in the absence of clear and convincing evidence that the Plan Administrator acted arbitrarily and capriciously.

Any insurance carrier, as a claim fiduciary, has discretionary authority to construe any and all terms of the group insurance policy it has issued, and the power and discretion to determine questions of fact and law arising in connection with the administration, interpretation and application of the group insurance policy.

Any and all of the claims fiduciary's decisions with respect to the group insurance policy shall be conclusive and binding on all persons.

Sources of plan contributions

Contributions for coverage under the plans may be made solely by USC or by the participating employees. Some coverages require joint contributions from USC and the participating employees.

Amendment and termination of the plans

THE PLAN SPONSOR HAS ESTABLISHED THE PLANS WITH THE BONA FIDE INTENTION AND EXPECTATION THAT THEY WILL BE CONTINUED INDEFINITELY, BUT THE PLAN SPONSOR SHALL NOT HAVE ANY OBLIGATION WHATSOEVER TO MAINTAIN THE PLANS FOR ANY GIVEN LENGTH OF TIME, AND THE PLAN SPONSOR MAY AT ANYTIME AMEND OR TERMINATE THE PLANS, IN WHOLE OR IN PART, WITH RESPECT TO ANY OR ALL OF ITS PARTICIPANTS AND/OR BENEFICIARIES. ANY SUCH AMENDMENT OR TERMINATION SHALL BE EFFECTED BY A WRITTEN INSTRUMENT SIGNED BY AN OFFICER OF THE PLAN SPONSOR. NO VESTED RIGHTS OF ANY NATURE ARE PROVIDED UNDER THE PLANS.

Support order procedures

Upon request, copies of the university's procedures for Qualified Medical Child Support Orders (QMCSOs) may be obtained from the plan administrator free of charge.

Claims and appeal procedures – medical, dental and vision

The following sections set forth the claims and appeals procedures that apply to the various plans and, in some cases, benefits under the plans in the event that a claim for benefits under the plan is denied.

Claims for benefits

A claim for benefits is a request for a plan benefit or benefits, made by a covered employee/dependent or his or her authorized representative that complies with the plan's reasonable procedure for making benefit claims. A claim for benefits includes a request for a coverage determination, for pre-authorization or approval of a plan benefit, or for a utilization review determination in accordance with the terms of the plan.

Notification of claims decision: Urgent care claims

The Plan Administrator (or the applicable claims administrator, insurer or HMO, hereafter the "delegate") will notify the claimant of the plan's claims decision as soon as possible, but not later than 72 hours after receipt of the claim by the plan. However, if the claimant (or the claimant's representative) does not provide sufficient information to decide the claim, the Plan Administrator (or the delegate) will notify the claimant of the specific information necessary to complete the claim not later than 24 hours after receipt of the claim by the plan. The claimant will be afforded a reasonable amount of time under the circumstances (not less than 48 hours) to provide the specified information. The Plan Administrator (or the delegate) will notify the claimant of the plan's claims decision as soon as possible, but in no case later than 48 hours after the earlier of the plan's receipt of the specified information or the end of the period afforded to the claimant to provide the specified information.

If the plan has approved a benefit or service to be provided for a specified or indefinite time period, any reduction or termination of the benefit or service (other than by plan amendment or termination) before the end of that period constitutes an adverse claims decision. To the extent that this decision denies an urgent care claim, the Plan Administrator (or the delegate) will provide notice of the adverse claims decision sufficiently in advance of the reduction or termination to allow the claimant (or the claimant's representative) to appeal and obtain a determination on appeal before the benefit is reduced or terminated. In addition, any urgent care claim requesting an extension of a course of treatment beyond the initially prescribed time period or number of treatments must be decided within not more than 24 hours of the request, provided the claim is made at least 24 hours before the expiration of the initially prescribed period or number of treatments.

Notification of claims decision: Non-urgent care claims

Concurrent care

If the plan has approved a benefit or service to be provided for a specified or indefinite time period, any reduction or termination of the benefit or service (other than by plan amendment or termination) before the end of that period constitutes an adverse claims decision.

Pre-service claims

A “pre-service claim” is any request for an approval of a benefit where the terms of the plan condition receipt of the benefit, in whole or in part, on approval of the benefit in advance of receiving the health care (e.g., pre-authorization).

The Plan Administrator (or the delegate) will notify the claimant of the plan’s benefit determination within a reasonable time period, but not later than 15 days after receipt of the claim by the plan. This period may be extended by the plan for up to 15 days, provided that the extension is necessary due to matters beyond the control of the plan and the Plan Administrator (or the delegate) notifies the claimant in writing or electronically prior to the expiration of the initial 15-day period. The notice to the claimant will state the reason for the extension and the date by which the plan expects to provide a decision. If the extension is necessary because the claimant failed to submit the information necessary to decide the claim, the notice of extension will describe the required information. The claimant then has 45 days from receipt of the notice within which to provide the specified information.

Post-service claims

“Post-service claims” are any group health plan claims that are not pre-service claims.

The Plan Administrator (or the delegate) will notify the claimant of the plan’s benefit determination within a reasonable time period, but not later than 30 days after receipt of the claim by the plan. This period may be extended by the plan for up to 15 days, provided that the extension is necessary due to matters beyond the control of the plan and the Plan Administrator (or the delegate) notifies the claimant in writing or electronically prior to the expiration of the initial 30-day period. The notice to the claimant will state the reason for the extension and the date by which the plan expects to provide a decision. If the extension is necessary because the claimant failed to submit the information necessary to decide the claim, the notice of extension will describe the required information. The claimant then has 45 days from receipt of the notice within which to provide the specified information.

Manner and content of notification of claims decision

The Plan Administrator (or the delegate) will provide claimants with a written or electronic notification of the plan’s claims decision. If the claim is wholly or partially denied, or if a rescission of coverage occurs (each an “Adverse Benefit Determination”), the Plan Administrator will furnish the claimant with a written notice of the Adverse Benefit Determination. The written notification will include:

- The specific reasons for the adverse decision;
- Reference to the specific plan provisions on which the decision is based;
- A description of any additional material or information necessary for the claimant to complete the claim and an explanation of why that material or information is necessary;
- A description of the plan’s review procedures and the time limits applicable to those procedures, including a statement of the claimant’s right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA following an adverse claims decision on review;
- If an internal rule, guideline, protocol, or other criterion was relied upon in the decision-making, either (1) a copy of the rule, guideline, or protocol or (2) a statement that a copy of the rule, guideline, or protocol will be provided free of charge to the claimant upon request;
- If the adverse claims decision was based on a medical necessity or experimental treatment or similar exclusion or limit, either (1) an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment for the determination, applying the terms of the plan to the claimant’s medical circumstances, or (2) a statement that an explanation will be provided free of charge to the claimant upon request; and

- For adverse claims decision involving an urgent care claim, a description of the expedited review process applicable to those claims.

In the case of an adverse claims decision involving an urgent care claim, the information may be provided to the claimant orally within the time frame prescribed for urgent care claims, provided that a written or electronic notification is furnished to the claimant not later than three days after the oral notification.

In the case of an Adverse Benefit Determination, the Plan must:

- Ensure that any notice of Adverse Benefit Determination includes information sufficient to identify the claim involved (including the date of service, the health care provider, and the claim amount, if applicable), and provide notice of the opportunity to request (1) the diagnosis code and its corresponding meaning and (2) the treatment code and its corresponding meaning.
- Ensure that the reason or reasons for the Adverse Benefit Determination includes the denial code and its corresponding meaning, as well as a description of the group health plan's standard, if any, that was used in denying the claim.
- Provide a description of available internal appeals and external review processes, including information regarding how to initiate an appeal.
- Disclose the availability of, and contact information for, any applicable office of health insurance consumer assistance or ombudsman established under Section 2793 of the Public Health Service Act to assist individuals with the internal claims and appeals and external review processes.

Appeal of adverse claims decisions

Upon receipt of an adverse claims decision, the claimant has up to 180 days to file an appeal with the Plan Administrator (or the delegate). The claimant may submit written comments, documents, records, and other information relevant to the claim for benefits. In addition, the claimant will be provided, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of, all documents, records, and other information relevant to the claim for benefits. The appeal will be reviewed by an appropriate named fiduciary (the "reviewer") of the plan who is neither the party who made the adverse claims decision that is the subject of the appeal, nor the subordinate of that party. The decision on appeal of an adverse claims decision will take into account all comments, documents, records, and other information submitted by the claimant (or the claimant's representative) relating to the claim, without regard to whether that information was submitted or considered in the initial claims decision. The appeal will not afford deference to the initial adverse claims decision.

In deciding the appeal of any adverse claims decision involving a medical judgment, including determinations with regard to whether a particular treatment, drug, or other item is experimental, investigational, or not medically necessary or appropriate, the reviewer will consult with a health care professional, who has appropriate training and experience in the field of medicine involved in the medical judgment. The health care professional engaged for purposes of a consultation will be independent of any health care professional who participated in the initial adverse claims decision. In addition, the plan will identify any medical or vocational experts whose advice was obtained on behalf of the plan in connection with a claimant's adverse claims decision, without regard to whether the advice was relied upon in making the claims decision.

Appeals of adverse claims decisions involving urgent care claims are subject to an expedited review process. The request for appeal may be submitted orally or in writing by the claimant or the claimant's representative. All necessary information, including the plan's claims decision on review of an urgent care claim, will be transmitted between the plan and the claimant by telephone, facsimile, or other available similarly expeditious method.

Notification of claims decision on review

The Plan Administrator (or the delegate) will notify the claimant of the plan's claims decision on review within a reasonable time period appropriate to the circumstances.

Urgent care claims

For urgent care claims, the Plan Administrator (or the delegate) will notify the claimant of the plan's claims decision on review as soon as possible, but not later than 72 hours after receipt of the claimant's request for review of an adverse claims decision.

Pre-service non-urgent care claims

For pre-service claims, the Plan Administrator (or the delegate) will notify the claimant of the plan's claims decision on review not later than 30 days after receipt by the plan of the claimant's request for review of an adverse claims decision.

Post-service non-urgent care claims

For post-service plan claims, the Plan Administrator (or the delegate) will notify the claimant of the plan's claims decision on review not later than 60 days after receipt by the plan of the claimant's request for review of an adverse claims decision.

Manner of content of notification of claims decision on review

The Plan Administrator (or the delegate) will provide claimants with written or electronic notification of a plan's benefit determination on review. In the case of an adverse claims decision, the notification must set forth:

- The specific reasons for the adverse decision;
- Reference to the specific plan provisions on which the claims decision is based;
- A statement that the claimant is entitled to receive, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of, all documents and records relevant to the claimant's claim for benefits, without regard to whether those records were considered or relied upon in making the adverse claims decision on review, including any reports, and the identifies of any experts whose advice was obtained;
- A statement describing any voluntary appeal procedures offered by the plan and the claimant's right to obtain the information about those procedures;
- A statement of the claimant's right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA following an adverse claims decision on review;
- If an internal rule, guideline, protocol, or other criterion was relied upon in the decision-making, either (1) a copy of the rule, guideline, or protocol or (2) a statement that a copy of the rule, guideline, or protocol will be provided free of charge to the claimant upon request;
- If the adverse benefit determination was based on a medical necessity or experimental treatment or similar exclusion or limit, either (1) an explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment for the determination, applying the terms of the plan to the claimant's medical circumstances, or (2) a statement that the explanation will be provided free of charge to the claimant upon request.
- The following statement: "You and your plan may have other voluntary alternative dispute resolution options, such as mediation. One way to find out what may be available is to contact your local Department of Labor Office or your state insurance regulatory agency."

In the case of an Adverse Benefit Determination, the Plan must:

- Ensure that any notice of Adverse Benefit Determination includes information sufficient to identify the claim involved (including the date of service, the health care provider, and the claim amount, if applicable), and provide notice of the opportunity to request (1) the diagnosis code and its corresponding meaning and (2) the treatment code and its corresponding meaning.

- Ensure that the reason or reasons for the Adverse Benefit Determination includes the denial code and its corresponding meaning, as well as a description of the group health plan's standard, if any, that was used in denying the claim.
- Provide a description of available internal appeals and external review processes, including information regarding how to initiate an appeal.
- Disclose the availability of, and contact information for, any applicable office of health insurance consumer assistance or ombudsman established under Section 2793 of the Public Health Service Act to assist individuals with the internal claims and appeals and external review processes.

External review

In the case of an Adverse Benefit Determination, you may be entitled to request an independent, external review of our decision. If your situation is urgent, you may be entitled to an expedited external review.

More information about your external review rights, including the timeframe and procedure for requesting an external review, will be provided to you in the Notice of Final Internal Adverse Benefit Determination.

Claims and appeal procedures—life insurance, accidental death and dismemberment insurance, and voluntary accidental death and dismemberment insurance

Claim procedures

Under Department of Labor (DOL) regulations, claimants are entitled to full and fair review of any claims made under the Plan. The procedures described in this section are intended to comply with DOL regulations by providing reasonable procedures governing the filing of benefit claims, notification of benefit decisions, and appeal of adverse benefit decisions.

A. Presenting claims for benefits

Claim forms may be obtained from the Employer.

Contact your Plan Administrator if you have any questions or need claim forms. Read the instructions on those forms carefully, and be sure all the questions are answered and that you include any required attachments when the completed forms are returned. After your claim has been processed by Securian Life, you will be notified in writing if any benefits are denied in whole or in part, or if any additional information is required. During all steps of the claims appeal procedure, you can write or call the appropriate Plan Administrator and ask to see all plan documents affecting your claim. In addition you may have an attorney or other representative write letters or otherwise act on your behalf, but the Plan Administrator reserves the right to require written authorization from you.

B. Claims denial procedure

If all or part of your claim for benefits is denied, Securian Life will notify you in writing within 90 days (45 days for any disability claims) of receiving your claim. If special circumstances require more time, the review period may be extended up to an additional 90 days (30 days for disability claims). You will be notified in writing of this extension within the original review period.

The notice of extension will include a description of the standards on which entitlement to a benefit is based, the unresolved issues that prevent a decision on the claim and the information needed to resolve those issues, and it shall specify a timeframe, no less than 45 days, in which the necessary information must be provided. Where the timeframe to process a claim is extended because the claim was incomplete, the extension time is calculated from the date the extension notice is sent to the claimant to the date the person responds to the request for additional information. If the person does not provide needed information to the Plan within 45 days of the date on the notice the Plan may close the claim and no further consideration will take place.

Any denial of a claim for benefits will be provided by Securian Life and consist of a written explanation which will include (i) the specific reasons for the denial, (ii) reference to the pertinent Plan provisions upon which the denial is based, (iii) a description of any additional information you might be required to provide and explanation of why it is needed, and (iv) an explanation of the Plan's claim review procedure, including a statement of the claimant's right to bring a civil action following an adverse claim decision or review.

Disability claims only – The following will also be included:

- A statement disclosing any internal rule, guidelines, protocol or similar criterion relied on in making the adverse decision.
- Explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment applying the terms of the Plan to the claimant's medical circumstances, if applicable.

C. Appealing the denial of a claim

You, your beneficiary (when an appropriate claimant), or a duly authorized representative may appeal any denial of a claim for benefits by filing a written request for a full and fair review to Securian Life. In connection with such a request, documents pertinent to the administration of the Plan may be reviewed, and comments and issues outlining the basis of the appeal may be submitted in writing. You may have representation throughout the review procedure. A request for a review must be filed by 60 days (180 days for any disability claims) after receipt of the written notice of denial of a claim. The full and fair review will be held and a decision rendered by Securian Life, no later than 60 days (45 days for disability claims) after receipt of the request for review.

If special circumstances require more time, the review period may be extended up to an additional 60 days (45 days for disability claims). You will be notified in writing of this extension within the original appeal period.

The notice of extension will include a description of the missing information and shall specify a timeframe, no less than 60 days (45 days for disability claims), in which the necessary information must be provided. Where the timeframe to process an appeal is extended because the claim was incomplete, the time for the benefit determination is put on hold from the date the extension notice is sent to the claimant until the date the person responds to the request for additional information. If the person does not provide needed information to the Plan within the 60 days (45 days for disability claims) of the date on the notice the Plan will close the appeal and no further consideration will take place.

A decision on appeal is adverse if it is a denial, reduction or termination of a benefit, or a failure to provide or make payment, in whole or part, for a benefit. It also includes any such denial, reduction, termination or failure to provide or make payment that is based on a determination that the claimant is no longer eligible to participate in a plan.

Written notification of the Plan's decision on a disability or non-disability appeal shall be provided to the claimant and will include the following:

- Explanation of the specific reasons for the denial
- A specific reference to pertinent Plan provisions on which the denial was based
- A statement regarding your right, upon request and free of charge, to reasonable access to review or copy pertinent documents

- A statement of the right to sue in federal court.

Disability claims only

- A statement disclosing any internal rule, guidelines, protocol or similar criterion relied on in making the adverse decision
- Explanation of the scientific or clinical judgment applying the terms of the Plan to the claimant's medical circumstances, if applicable.

D. Legal action following appeals

After completing all mandatory appeal procedures, you have the right to further appeal adverse benefit determinations by bringing a civil action under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA). Please refer to the Statement of ERISA Rights section for more details. No such action may be filed against the Plan after two years from the date the Plan gives you a final determination on your appeal. Also, no legal action may be brought if you do not file a claim for a benefit and seek timely review of a denial of that claim.

Claims and appeal procedures—severance pay plan

If any person believes he or she is being denied any rights or benefits under the Plan, such person may file a claim in writing with the Plan Administrator. If any such claim under the Plan is wholly or partially denied, the Administrator will provide the claimant with a written explanation which will include (i) the specific reasons for the denial, (ii) reference to the specific plan provisions upon which the denial is based, (iii) a description of any additional information the claimant might be required to provide with an explanation of why it is needed, and (iv) an explanation of the Plan's claim review procedure and applicable time limits and a statement of your right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA following an adverse claims decision upon review.

A written claim denial will be sent within 90 days after receipt of the claim by the Plan. The 90 days may be extended for up to another 90 days if special circumstances warrant an extension of time. If such an extension is needed, the claimant will be notified in writing prior to the beginning of the extension period. The extension notice will indicate the special circumstances requiring an extension of time and the date by which the Plan expects to render a decision. The claimant or a duly authorized representative may appeal any denial of a claim for benefits by filing a written request for a full and fair review to the Plan Administrator. In connection with such a request, documents pertinent to the administration of the Plan may be reviewed, and comments and issues outlining the basis of the appeal may be submitted in writing. The claimant may have representation throughout the review procedure.

A request for a review must be filed within 60 days of the claimant's receipt of the written notice of denial of a claim. The full and fair review will be held and a decision rendered by the Plan Administrator no longer than 60 days after receipt of the request for review.

If there are special circumstances, the decision will be made as soon as possible, but not later than 120 days after receipt of the request for review. If such an extension of time is needed, the claimant will be notified in writing prior to the beginning of the time extension period. The decision after the review will be in writing and will include:

- The specific reasons for the adverse decision;
- Reference to the specific plan provisions on which the claims decision is based;
- A statement that the claimant is entitled to receive, upon request and free of charge, reasonable access to, and copies of, all documents and records relevant to the claimant's claim for benefits, without regard to whether those records were considered or relied upon in making the adverse claims decision on review, including any reports, and the identifies of any experts whose advice was obtained;
- A statement describing any voluntary appeal procedures offered by the plan and the claimant's right to obtain the information about those procedures; and

- A statement of the claimant's right to bring a civil action under Section 502(a) of ERISA following an adverse claims decision on review.

Claims and appeal procedures – health care flexible spending account

The plan has established the following claims review procedure in the event you are denied a benefit under this plan. The procedure set forth below does not apply to benefit claims filed under the dependent care spending account.

Step 1: Notice of denial is received from Third Party Administrator (WageWorks). If your claim is denied, you will receive written notice from WageWorks that your claim is denied as soon as reasonably possible, but no later than 30 days after receipt of the claim. For reasons beyond the control of WageWorks, it may take up to an additional 15 days to review your claim. You will be provided written notice of the need for additional time prior to the end of the 30-day period. If the reason for the additional time is that you need to provide additional information, you will have 45 days from the notice of the extension to obtain that information. The time period during which WageWorks must make a decision will be suspended until the earlier of the date that you provide the information or the end of the 45-day period.

Step 2: Review your notice carefully. Once you have received your notice from WageWorks, review it carefully. The notice will contain:

- a. the reason(s) for the denial and the Plan provisions on which the denial is based;
- b. a description of any additional information necessary for you to perfect your claim, why the information is necessary and your time limit for submitting the information;
- c. a description of the Plan's appeal procedures and the time limits applicable to such procedures; and
- d. a right to request all documentation relevant to your claim.

Step 3: If you disagree with the decision, file an appeal. If you do not agree with the decision of WageWorks, you may file a written appeal. Your appeal must be received within 180 days of the date you received notice that your claim was denied. You should submit all information identified in the notice of denial as necessary to perfect your claim and any additional information that you believe would support your claim.

Step 4: Second notice of denial is received from WageWorks. If the claim is again denied, you will be notified in writing by WageWorks as soon as possible but no later than 30 days after receipt of the appeal.

Step 5: Review your notice carefully. You should take the same action that you take in Step 2 described above. The notice will contain the same type of information that is provided in the first notice of denial provided by WageWorks.

Step 6: If you still disagree with the WageWorks decision, file a 2nd level appeal with the Plan Administrator. If you still do not agree with the WageWorks decision and you wish to appeal, you must file a written appeal with the Plan Administrator within the time period set forth in the first level appeal denial notice from WageWorks. You should gather any additional information that is identified in the notice as necessary to perfect your claim and any other information that you believe will support your claim.

If the Plan Administrator denies your 2nd level appeal, you will receive notice within 30 days after the Plan Administrator receives your claim. The notice will contain the same type of information that was referenced in Step 1 above.

Other important information regarding your appeals:

- a. Each level of appeal will be independent from the previous level (i.e. the same person(s) or subordinates of the same person(s) involved in a prior level of appeal will not be involved in the appeal);
- b. On each level of appeal, WageWorks will review relevant information that you submit even if it is new information; and

- c. You cannot file suit in federal court until you have exhausted these appeals procedures.

Claims and appeal procedures – John Hancock Long-Term Care Insurance

Presenting claims for benefits

If your claim for benefits under your John Hancock Long-Term Care Insurance Policy is denied, in whole or in part, you or your authorized representative will receive a written notice giving the reason for the denial. You will then be entitled to a review of the claim denial if:

- You make written request for such review; and
- You send such request to John Hancock within 60 days after receipt of the denial.

In your request for a claim review, you should:

- State why you disagree with John Hancock's determination;
- State what other factors (if any) John Hancock should take into consideration; and
- Identify whom John Hancock could contact (including names, addresses, and phone numbers) to gather any additional pertinent information regarding your condition or your care.

John Hancock will make a full and fair review of the claim and may require additional information to objectively evaluate your appeal. John Hancock may use one or more of the following resources for its review:

- a physician who will assess your condition and report it to John Hancock;
- an on-site geriatric assessment; or
- medical records from your physician(s) and/or provider(s) of care.

John Hancock will then review and make a final decision with respect to the claim appeal for benefits under the policy. The decision will be in writing and, if a denial, will include specific reasons for the denial. John Hancock will make its decision regarding your claim promptly and usually not later than 60 days after receiving the request for review.

Appeals of adverse determination

If your claim for benefits is denied or if you do not receive a response to your claim within the appropriate time frame (in which case the claim for benefits is deemed to have been denied), you or your representative may appeal your denied claim in writing to the Plan Administrator within 180 days of the receipt of the written notice of denial or 180 days from the date such claim is deemed denied. You may submit with your appeal any written comments, documents, records and any other information relating to your claim. Upon your request, you will also have access to and the right to obtain copies of all documents, records and information relevant to your claim free of charge.

A request to the Plan Administrator must be submitted in writing to:

Plan Administrator
University of Southern California
3720 S. Flower Street, 2nd Floor
Los Angeles, CA 90007

When reviewing an adverse determination that has been appealed, any new information that you provide that was not available or utilized when the initial determination was made will be considered.

You will be notified regarding the decision on your claim within 60 days. However, the appeal determination period may be extended for up to 60 additional days in the event the Plan Administrator determines that special circumstances apply. If an extension is necessary, notice will be given to you (or your authorized representative) prior to the end of the appeals determination period. The notice will indicate the special circumstances that apply and the date by which the Plan Administrator reasonably expects to render a decision.

The determination of your appeal will be in writing and, if adverse, will contain the following:

- the specific reasons for the adverse determination of your appeal;
- reference to the specific plan provisions on which the determination of your appeal is based;
- a statement regarding your right, upon request and free of charge, to access and receive copies of documents, records and other information relevant to the claim;
- a statement regarding your right to sue under Section 502(a) of ERISA following an adverse determination on your appeal and about any available voluntary alternative dispute resolution options; and
- the statement: “You and your plan may have other voluntary dispute resolution options, such as mediation. One way to find out what may be available is to contact your local U.S. Department of Labor Office and your state insurance regulatory agency.”

After completing all mandatory appeals levels, you have the right to further appeal adverse eligibility determinations by bringing a civil action under ERISA.

Statement of ERISA rights

As a participant in one or more of the plans you are entitled to certain rights and protections under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA). ERISA provides that all plan participants shall be entitled to:

- Examine, without charge, at the Plan Administrator’s office and at other specified locations (such as work sites and union halls), all documents governing the plans, including insurance contracts and collective bargaining agreements, and copies of the latest annual reports (Form 5500 series) filed by the plans with the U.S. Department of Labor and available at the Public Disclosure Room of the Employee Benefits Security Administration.
- Obtain copies of all documents governing the operation of the plans, including insurance contracts and collective bargaining agreements, and copies of the latest annual reports (Form 5500 series) and updated summary plan description, upon written request to the Plan Administrator. The Plan Administrator may make a reasonable charge for the copies.
- Receive summaries of the plans’ annual financial reports. The Plan Administrator is required by law to furnish each participant with copies of these summary annual reports.
- Continue health care coverage for yourself, spouse or dependents if there is a loss of coverage under the plans as a result of a qualifying event. You or your dependents may have to pay for such coverage. Review this summary plan description and the documents governing the plan for the rules governing your COBRA continuation coverage rights.
- Reduction or elimination of exclusionary periods of coverage for pre-existing conditions under the plans, if you have creditable coverage from another plan. You should be provided a certificate of creditable coverage, free of charge, from your group health plan or health insurance insurer when you lose coverage under the plan, when you become entitled to elect COBRA continuation coverage, when your COBRA continuation coverage ceases, if you request it before losing coverage, or if you request it up to 24 months after losing coverage. Without evidence of creditable coverage, you may be subject to a pre-existing condition exclusion for 12 months (18 months for late enrollees) after your enrollment date in your coverage.

In addition to creating rights for plan participants, ERISA imposes duties upon the people who are responsible for the operation of the plans. The people who operate your plans, called “fiduciaries” of the plans, have a duty to do so prudently and in the interest of you and other plan participants and beneficiaries. No one, including your employer or your union, or any other person, may fire you or otherwise discriminate against you in any way to prevent you from obtaining a benefit or exercising your rights under ERISA.

If your claim for a benefit is denied or ignored in whole or in part, you have a right to know why this was done, to obtain copies of documents relating to the decision without charge, and to appeal any denial, all within certain time schedules. Under ERISA, there are steps you can take to enforce the above rights. For instance, if you request a copy of plan documents or the latest annual report from the plans and do not receive them within 30 days, you may file suit in a federal court. In such a case, the court may require the Plan Administrator to provide the materials and pay you up to $110 a day until you receive the materials, unless the materials were not sent because of reasons beyond the control of the Plan Administrator.

If you have a claim for benefits which is denied or ignored, in whole or in part, you may file suit in a state or federal court. In addition, if you disagree with the plan's decision or lack thereof concerning the qualified status of a medical child support order, you may file suit in a federal court. If it should happen that plan fiduciaries misuse a plan's money, or if you are discriminated against for asserting your rights, you may seek assistance from the U.S. Department of Labor, or you may file suit in a federal court. The court will decide who should pay court costs and legal fees. If you are successful, the court may order the person you have sued to pay these costs and fees. If you lose, the court may order you to pay these costs and fees, for example, if it finds your claim is frivolous.

If you have any questions about your plans, you should contact the Plan Administrator. If you have any questions about this statement or about your rights under ERISA, or if you need assistance in obtaining documents from the Plan Administrator, you should contact the nearest office of the Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, listed in your telephone directory or the Division of Technical Assistance and Inquiries, Employee Benefits Security Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20210. You may also obtain certain publications about your rights and responsibilities under ERISA by calling the publications hotline of the Employee Benefits Security Administration.

COBRA notices and information

Certificate of health plan coverage

Your medical plan will provide you and/or your covered dependents with a coverage certificate promptly after your coverage under the university's plan ends. If you elect COBRA continuation coverage, you will also receive a coverage certificate after COBRA coverage ends. Keep a copy of the coverage certificate(s) you receive, as you may need to prove you had prior coverage if you join a new plan sponsored by another employer or enroll in an individual health insurance plan. You and/or your dependents, or someone on your behalf, may also request a coverage certificate within 24 months of the date your university coverage ended by contacting the HR Service Center at 213-821-8100.

Group medical continuation coverage under COBRA

This notice contains important information about your right to COBRA continuation coverage, which is a temporary extension of coverage under the Plan. This notice generally explains COBRA continuation coverage, when it may become available to you and you family, and what you need to do to protect the right to receive it.

The right to COBRA continuation coverage was created by a federal law, the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985 (COBRA). COBRA continuation coverage can become available to you when you would otherwise lose your group health coverage. It can also become available to other members of your family who are covered under the plan when they would otherwise lose their group health coverage. For additional information about your rights and obligations under the Plan and under federal law, you should review the Plan's Summary Plan Description or contact the Plan Administrator or its delegate (effective February 1, 2012, USC's delegate is WageWorks).

What is COBRA continuation coverage?

COBRA continuation coverage is a continuation of plan coverage when coverage would otherwise end because of a life event known as a "qualifying event." Specific qualifying events are listed later in this notice. After a qualifying event, COBRA continuation coverage must be offered to each person who is a “qualified beneficiary.” You, your spouse, and your dependent children could become qualified beneficiaries if coverage under the plan is lost because of the qualifying event. Under USC’s plans, qualified beneficiaries who elect COBRA continuation coverage must pay for the coverage.

If you are an employee of USC (“USC”) covered by one of the medical, dental or vision care options (or, in limited cases, a health care flexible spending account) maintained by USC (the “USC Health Plans”), you will become a qualified beneficiary if you lose your group health coverage because your hours of employment are reduced, or your employment ends for any reason other than your gross misconduct.

If you are the spouse of an employee covered by the USC Health Plans, you will become a qualified beneficiary if you lose your coverage under the USC Health Plans because any one of the following qualifying events happens:

- (1) Your spouse dies;
- (2) Your spouse’s employment ends for any reason other than his or her gross misconduct;
- (3) Your spouse’s hours of employment are reduced;
- (4) You become divorced or legally separated from your spouse; or
- (5) Your spouse becomes entitled to Medicare (under Part A, Part B, or both).

Your dependent children will become qualified beneficiaries if they lose coverage under the USC Health Plans, because any one of the following qualifying events happens:

- (1) The parent-employee dies;
- (2) The parent-employee’s hours of employment are reduced;
- (3) The parent-employee’s employment ends for any reason other than his or her gross misconduct;
- (4) The parents become divorced or legally separated;
- (5) The parent-employee becomes entitled to Medicare benefits (Part A, Part B, or both); or
- (6) The child ceases to be eligible for coverage under the USC Health Plans as a “dependent child”.

Sometimes, filing a proceeding in bankruptcy under title 11 of the United States Code can be a qualifying event. If a proceeding in bankruptcy is filed with respect to USC and that bankruptcy results in the loss of coverage of any retired employee covered under the Plan, the retired employee will become a qualified beneficiary with respect to the bankruptcy. The retired employee’s spouse or surviving spouse and dependent children will also become qualified beneficiaries if bankruptcy results in the loss of their coverage under the USC Health Plans.

When is COBRA coverage available?

The USC Health Plans will offer COBRA continuation coverage to qualified beneficiaries only after WageWorks has been notified that a qualifying event has occurred. When the qualifying event is the end of employment or reduction of hours of employment, death of the employee, commencement of a proceeding in a bankruptcy with respect to the employer, or the employee’s becoming entitled to Medicare benefits (under Part A, Part B, or both), the employer must notify WageWorks of the qualifying event.

You must give notice of some qualifying events

For the other qualifying events (divorce or legal separation of the employee and spouse, or a dependent child’s losing eligibility for coverage as a dependent child, etc.), you must notify WageWorks within 60 days after the qualifying event occurs. You must provide this notice to WageWorks at the address, phone number or e-mail address provided at the end of this section, along with documentation substantiating the divorce, legal separation or loss of dependent status and the effective date of such event.

A child who is born to or placed for adoption with the covered employee during a period of COBRA continuation coverage will be eligible to become a qualified beneficiary and be added to the covered employee’s COBRA continuation coverage. You must notify WageWorks within 60 days after the birth or placement for adoption occurs. You must provide this notice to WageWorks at the address, phone number or e-mail address provided at the end of this section, along with copies of legal documents substantiating the birth or placement for adoption and the effective date of such event.

How is COBRA coverage provided?

Once WageWorks receives notice that a qualifying event has occurred, COBRA continuation coverage will be offered to each of the qualified beneficiaries. Each qualified beneficiary will have an independent right to elect COBRA continuation coverage. Covered employees may elect COBRA continuation coverage on behalf of their spouses, and parents may elect COBRA continuation coverage on behalf of their children.

When the qualifying event is the end of employment or reduction of the employee's hours of employment, and the employee became entitled to Medicare benefits less than 18 months before the qualifying event, COBRA continuation coverage for qualified beneficiaries other than the employee lasts until 36 months after the date of Medicare entitlement. For example, if a covered employee becomes entitled to Medicare 8 months before the date on which his employment terminates, COBRA continuation coverage for his spouse and children can last up to 36 months after the date of Medicare entitlement, which is equal to 28 months after the date of the qualifying event (36 months minus 8 months).

When the qualifying event is the death of the employee, the employee's becoming entitled to Medicare benefits (under Part A, Part B, or both), your divorce, legal separation, or a dependent child's losing eligibility as a dependent child, COBRA continuation coverage lasts for up to a total of 36 months. Otherwise, when the qualifying event is the end of employment or reduction of the employee's hours of employment, COBRA continuation coverage generally lasts for only up to a total of 18 months. There are two ways in which this 18-month period of COBRA continuation coverage can be extended.

Disability extension of 18-month period of continuation coverage

If you or anyone in your family covered under USC Health Plans is determined by the Social Security Administration to be disabled and you notify WageWorks within 60 days of the Social Security Administration's disability determination and before your initial 18-month period of continuation coverage expires, you and your entire family may be entitled to receive up to an additional 11 months of COBRA continuation coverage, for a total maximum of 29 months. The disability would have to have started at some time before the 60th day of COBRA continuation coverage and must last at least until the end of the 18-month period of continuation coverage. The qualified beneficiary must also notify WageWorks within 30 days of the date of any final determination by the Social Security Administration that he or she is no longer disabled. You must provide these notices to WageWorks at the address, phone number or e-mail address provided at the end of this section, along with copies of correspondence from the Social Security Administration substantiating the disability/loss of disability and the effective date of the applicable SSA determination. Furthermore, during the period after the 18th month through the 29th month of continuation coverage, the monthly premium cost will be increased to 150% of the applicable premium relating to continuation coverage.

Second qualifying event extension of 18-month period of continuation coverage

If your family experiences another qualifying event while receiving 18 months of COBRA continuation coverage, the spouse and dependent children in your family can get up to 18 additional months of COBRA continuation coverage, for a maximum of 36 months, if notice of the second qualifying event is properly given to WageWorks. This extension may be available to the spouse and any dependent children receiving continuation coverage if the employee or former employee dies, becomes entitled to Medicare benefits (under Part A, Part B, or both), or gets divorced or legally separated, or if the dependent child stops being eligible under USC Health Plans as a dependent child, but only if the event would have caused the spouse or dependent child to lose coverage under the plans had the first qualifying event not occurred.

Are there other coverage options besides COBRA continuation coverage? Yes. Instead of enrolling in COBRA continuation coverage, there may be other coverage options for you and your family through the Health Insurance Marketplace, Medicaid, or other group health plan coverage options (such as a spouse's plan) through what is called a "special enrollment period." Some of these options may cost less than COBRA continuation coverage. You can learn more about many of these options at www.Healthcare.gov.

How can you elect COBRA continuation coverage?

To elect continuation coverage, you must complete the Election Form and furnish it according to the directions on the form. Each qualified beneficiary has a separate right to elect continuation coverage. For example, the employee's spouse may elect continuation coverage even if the employee does not.

Continuation coverage may be elected for only one, several, or for all dependent children who are qualified beneficiaries. A parent may elect to continue coverage on behalf of any dependent children. The employee or the employee's spouse can elect continuation coverage on behalf of all of the qualified beneficiaries.

In considering whether to elect continuation coverage, you should take into account that a failure to continue your group health coverage will affect your future rights under federal law. First, you can lose the right to avoid having pre-existing condition exclusions applied to you by other group health plans if you have more than a 63-day gap in health coverage, and election of continuation coverage may help you not have such a gap. Second, you will lose the guaranteed right to purchase individual health insurance policies that do not impose such pre-existing condition exclusions if you do not get continuation coverage for the maximum time available to you. Finally, you should take into account that you have special enrollment rights under federal law. You have the right to request special enrollment in another group health plan for which you are otherwise eligible (such as a plan sponsored by your spouse's employer) within 30 days after your group health coverage ends because of the qualifying event listed above. You will also have the same special enrollment right at the end of continuation coverage if you get continuation coverage for the maximum time available to you.

How much does COBRA continuation coverage cost?

Each qualified beneficiary must pay the entire cost of continuation coverage. The amount a qualified beneficiary must pay may not exceed 102 percent (or, in the case of an extension of continuation coverage due to disability, 150 percent) of the cost to the USC Health Plan (including both employer and employee contributions) for coverage of a similarly situated plan participant or beneficiary who is not receiving continuation coverage.

When and how must payment for COBRA continuation coverage be made?

If you elect continuation coverage, you have up to 45 days after the date of your election to send your first monthly premium payment, made payable to USC, to WageWorks at the address provided at the end of this notice. If you do not make your first payment for continuation coverage in full not later than 45 days after the date of your election, you will lose all continuation coverage rights under the USC Health Plans. You are responsible for making sure that the amount of your first payment is correct. You may contact WageWorks to confirm the amount of your first payment.

After you make your first payment for continuation coverage, you will be required to make monthly premium payments that are due on the first day of each month. You will be given a grace period of 30 days after the first day of the coverage period to make each monthly payment. Your continuation coverage will be provided for each coverage period as long as payment for that coverage period is made before the end of the grace period for that payment. If you fail to make monthly payment before the end of the grace period for that coverage period, you will lose all rights to continuation coverage under the USC Health Plan.

Early termination of COBRA

COBRA provides that your continuation coverage may be terminated before the end of the maximum coverage period for any of the following reasons:

- (1) USC no longer provides group health coverage to any of its employees;
- (2) Any required premium for continuation coverage is not paid in full on time;
- (3) A qualified beneficiary becomes covered—after electing COBRA continuation coverage—under another group health plan (as an employee or otherwise) that does not impose any pre-existing condition limitation for a pre-existing condition of the qualified beneficiary;
- (4) A qualified beneficiary becomes entitled to Medicare (under Part A, Part B, or both) after electing COBRA continuation coverage;
- (5) A qualified beneficiary extends coverage for up to 29 months due to disability and there has been a final determination that the individual is no longer disabled.

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) restricts the extent to which group health plans may impose preexisting condition limitations. HIPAA coordinates COBRA's other coverage cut-off rule in (3) above with these new limits as follows:

If you become covered by another group health plan and that plan contains a preexisting limitation that affects you, your COBRA coverage cannot be terminated. However, if the other plan's preexisting condition does not apply to you by reason of HIPAA's restrictions on preexisting condition clauses, USC may terminate your COBRA coverage.

You do not have to show that you are insurable to choose continuation coverage. However, as discussed above, you will have to pay all the required premiums for your continuation coverage.

The law also says that, at the end of the 18 month, 29 month or 36 month continuation coverage period, you must be allowed to enroll in an individual conversion health plan if such an individual conversion health plan is otherwise generally available under USC Health Plans. You should contact WageWorks for further information about whether the conversion option is available to you.

Continuation coverage under COBRA is provided subject to the qualified beneficiary's eligibility for coverage. The Plan Administrator reserves the right to terminate your COBRA continuation coverage retroactively if you are determined to be ineligible.

COBRA continuation coverage may also be terminated for any reason if USC Health Plans would terminate coverage of a participant or beneficiary not receiving continuation coverage (such as fraud).

If you have questions

More complete information regarding your COBRA continuation coverage rights is available from WageWorks. Other required notices under federal law

Special enrollment periods–HIPAA

If you are declining enrollment for yourself or your dependents (including your spouse) because of other health insurance coverage, you may in the future be able to enroll yourself or your dependents in one of the health care options offered by USC, provided that you request enrollment within 30 days after (i) your other coverage is terminated due to your or your dependents' loss of eligibility, (ii) employer contributions toward such other coverage ceased, or (iii) if the other coverage was COBRA coverage, your COBRA coverage was exhausted. In addition, if you have a new dependent as a result of marriage, birth, adoption or placement for adoption, you may be able to enroll yourself and your dependents, provided that you request enrollment within 30 days after the marriage, birth, adoption or placement for adoption.

Special enrollment periods – Children’s Health Insurance Plan Reauthorization Act

Employees and their eligible dependents will be allowed to enroll in the USC group health plan if one of the two following events occur:

- (1) The employee’s or dependents’ Medicaid or State Children’s Health Insurance Plan (SCHIP) coverage is terminated due to a loss of eligibility, or
- (2) The employee or dependent becomes eligible for a premium subsidy under Medicaid or SCHIP.

Employees must request enrollment within 60 days of the effective date of the loss of Medicaid or SCHIP coverage or becoming eligible for the premium subsidy.

Maternity stays

Group health plans and health issuers generally may not, under federal law, restrict benefits for any hospital length of stay in connection with childbirth for the mother or newborn child to less than 48 hours following a vaginal delivery, or less than 96 hours following a cesarean section. However, federal law generally does not prohibit the mother’s or newborn’s attending provider, after consulting with the mother, from discharging the mother or her newborn earlier than 48 hours (or 96 hours as applicable). In any case, plans and issuers may not, under federal law, require that a provider obtain authorization from the plan or the issuer for prescribing a length of stay not in excess of 48 hours (or 96 hours).

Women’s health and cancer rights legislation

Under the Women’s Health and Cancer Rights Act of 1998, health plans that provide coverage for mastectomies must also cover reconstructive breast surgery following the mastectomy, including:

- Reconstruction of the breast on which the mastectomy was performed;
- Surgery and reconstruction of the other breast to produce symmetrical appearances; and
- Prostheses and physical complications at all stages of the mastectomy, including lymphedemas

Coverage for the procedures will be the same as that for any other medical/surgical benefit under the health plan you have elected, and certain general coverage limitations may apply, including, but not limited to, deductibles, co-insurance, co-payments, reasonable and customary charges, approval of your primary care physician, etc. Please refer to your HMO Evidence of Coverage or Network Plan booklet.

Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008 (GINA). In addition, under the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008 (GINA), neither an insurance provider nor your employer may not discriminate against you on the basis of genetic information, including by adjusting premiums and contribution amounts.

Continuation of Health Care Benefits (USERRA). The Uniformed Services and Employment Rights Act (USERRA) provides for continuation of health care coverage for employees called for active duty military service. Except to the extent greater benefits are provided by USC, the maximum length of extended coverage under USERRA is the lesser of (1) 24 months beginning on the date that the military leave begins; or (2) a period beginning on the day that the leave began and ending on the day after your reemployment application deadline. If your military leave does not exceed 31 days, you will not be required to pay more than your share of the premium toward the extended coverage. If the leave is 31 days or more, then you will be required to pay the full premium cost, plus an additional 2% administration fee. If you return to covered employment after a military leave has ended, your medical coverage will be reinstated. You will not have to provide proof of good health or satisfy any waiting periods. However, exceptions may apply to an illness or injury incurred as a result of the military service.

Patient Protections under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act. The Anthem Blue Cross HMO Plan generally requires the designation of a primary care provider. You have the right to designate any primary care provider who participates in our network and who is available to accept you or your family members. Until you make this designation, Anthem Blue Cross designates one for you. For children, you may designate a pediatrician as the primary care provider.

You do not need prior authorization from Anthem Blue Cross or from any other person (including a primary care provider) in order to obtain access to obstetrical or gynecological care from a health care professional in our network who specializes in obstetrics or gynecology. The health care professional, however, may be required to comply with certain procedures, including obtaining prior authorization for certain services, following a preapproved treatment plan, or procedures for making referrals. For a list of participating health care professionals who specialize in obstetrics or gynecology, contact the plan administrator.

Summary of HIPAA privacy rights

A federal law known as the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) requires group health plans to protect the confidentiality of your private health information. The university and its group health plans will not use or further disclose information that is protected by HIPAA (“protected health information”) except as necessary for treatment, payment, health plan operations and plan administration, or as otherwise permitted or required by applicable law. By law, the plans will require all of its business associates to also observe HIPAA’s privacy rules. In particular, the plans will not, without authorization, use or disclose protected health information for employment-related actions and decisions or in connection with any other benefit or employee benefit plan of the University.

Under HIPAA, you have certain rights with respect to your protected health information, including certain rights to see and copy the information, receive an accounting of certain disclosures of the information and, under certain circumstances, amend the information. You also have the right to file a complaint with the applicable plan or with the Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services if you believe your rights under HIPAA have been violated. The plans maintain a privacy notice, which provides a complete description of your rights under HIPAA’s privacy rules. For a copy of the notice, please contact USC Health Plans. If you have questions about the privacy of your health information, please contact USC Health Plans or the University’s designated privacy official.
